

Local History/Local Resources
Program Series

SUNDAY
October 7
3:00—4:30 PM

Open to the public at no charge

Sponsored jointly by
Bloomfield Historical Society

Community Room
1099 Lone Pine Road
Bloomfield Township MI 48302

Questions? contact the Library:
248.642.5800 or www.btpl.org

199 years and 11 months ago a group of prominent Detroiters, inspired by Michigan Territorial Governor Lewis Cass, decided to see for themselves if the land that would become Oakland County was really the “Interminable Swamp” earlier surveyors said it was.

They formed an Expedition into the Interior, mounted their horses and followed a Native American path called the Saginaw Trail (we call it Woodward Avenue now) until they got to about 13 Mile Road — when they headed northwesterly toward the first of a series of lakes.

“As we knew of no names that they had hitherto received, we thought it expedient to give them some, and designated most of those we saw by the names of the explorers.”

That’s how Wing, Cass and Elizabeth lakes got their names. Nine others did as well and their story along with the rest of the Expedition — as told in the November 13, 1818 Detroit Gazette — will be the subject of a multimedia presentation led by four of our local historians.

1818-2018 Celebrate Bloomfield@200 .

Bloomfield Historical Society

info@bloomfieldhistoricalsociety.org

www.bloomfieldhistoricalsociety.org

Local History/Local Resources
Program Series

SUNDAY
October 7
3:00—4:30 PM

Open to the public at no charge

Sponsored jointly by
Bloomfield Historical Society

Community Room
1099 Lone Pine Road
Bloomfield Township MI 48302

Questions? contact the Library:
248.642.5800 or www.btpl.org

199 years and 11 months ago a group of prominent Detroiters, inspired by Michigan Territorial Governor Lewis Cass, decided to see for themselves if the land that would become Oakland County was really the “Interminable Swamp” earlier surveyors said it was.

They formed an Expedition into the Interior, mounted their horses and followed a Native American path called the Saginaw Trail (we call it Woodward Avenue now) until they got to about 13 Mile Road — when they headed northwesterly toward the first of a series of lakes.

“As we knew of no names that they had hitherto received, we thought it expedient to give them some, and designated most of those we saw by the names of the explorers.”

That’s how Wing, Cass and Elizabeth lakes got their names. Nine others did as well and their story along with the rest of the Expedition — as told in the November 13, 1818 Detroit Gazette — will be the subject of a multimedia presentation led by four of our local historians.

1818-2018 Celebrate Bloomfield@200 .

Bloomfield Historical Society

info@bloomfieldhistoricalsociety.org

www.bloomfieldhistoricalsociety.org

